

How unjust is it for the Federal Government to move the goal posts after the current gap year cohort irreversibly deferred this year's tertiary studies and committed to gaining independent status according to the established rules?

The government is cheating on thousands of gap year students and their parents while creating uncertainty and distrust. This grossly unfair decision must be reversed.

Paul Duggan - father of a current gap year daughter

Erika Matthews - mother of a current gap year son